What? Your MFG Day plant tour will be like your existing client walkthroughs but with a different target audience

When? Select your preferred day/date/time slot and then work with your target audience on a mutually agreeable time. Usually, a tour is better when work is happening on the floor so during a break is not preferred.

Who? Create your guest list. Tours are often scheduled by or with a particular education or community group (i.e. student age group, teacher group, business group, etc.). Click for school contacts.

How many? Limit group size to a max of 15 per tour/tour guide.

Option: Have 2 – 3 tour groups with a tour guide each

Option: Have the first 15 attendees for a verbal presentation while the second 15 are on a tour and then swap.

The Tour

- Good: Presentation in a meeting room
- Better: Tour/Presentation from the mezzanine
- Best: Tour on the floor with PPE
- Best+: Presentation in meeting room, Tour on the floor, In addition to the floor, introduce attendees to accounting, administration, customer service, engineering, IT, logistics, purchasing, marketing, sales, etc., followed by closing presentation, Q&A, and “Call to Action” in a meeting room.

The Presentation

Include a brief equipment or product demonstration being sure to remove proprietary information. Consider your audience and their engagement level. All people like visuals and hands on where permitted. Hands-on activities generate significant interest and are generally more likely to spark interest. Include tour safety information (i.e. exits, PPE, yellow lines, not touching, no photography, etc.). Save time for Q&A.

Marketing:

- Pre-Marketing: Invitation with close toed shoes reminder, #MFGDay22
- Post-Marketing: Photos, Press Release, Website, Social Media, Company contact established, #MFGDay22
- Marketing Points:
  - #MFGDay22
